WELCOME TO NATURALLY LANGKAWI

LANGKAWI, a cluster of 99 mesmerising islands in the Andaman Sea, separated from mainland Malaysia by the Straits of Malacca, is a district of the state of Kedah in Northern Malaysia. A natural paradise with two-thirds of the islands dominated by some of the world's oldest rainforest, forest-covered mountains and hills, some of which are the oldest geological formations known in the world dating back an estimated 550 million years. Langkawi is now recognized as the first UNESCO-endorsed Geopark in Southeast Asia.

Langkawi's beautiful natural ecological attractions, breath-taking waterfalls, nature trails, abundant wild life, pristine white beaches with marine activities and some of the region's most beautiful resorts have placed Langkawi on the international tourism destination list.

Pulau Langkawi, the largest of the islands in the archipelago has a population of some 99,000 people who are as culturally diverse as the islands' natural features. The ethnic groups consists mainly of Malays, Chinese, Indians and Thais and their religious and cultural influences have assimilated over the generations into a common and overlapping way of life including the celebration of festivals, their language right down to the food of Langkawi today.

LANGKAWI MAKAN-MAKAN GUIDE

Makan in the Malay language means to eat. Makanan is food, and colloquially in Malaysia Makan-Makan simply means a meal.

Malaysia's multi-cultural ethnic mix have one common passion – Food! The assimilation of the various cultures and ethnic mix has resulted in a unique assortment of the type of food available in the country.

This is very much evident in Langkawi as well. There are different types of food available at different times of the day, be it Malay, Chinese, Indian or Thai. The mix is further enhanced by the migration of the Malaysian ethnic groups to Langkawi from other states, for economic reasons or by inter-marriage. With this more influences are injected to food preparations and ingredients used over the generations which increases the variety even further.

The increased tourism influx has injected an international flavor to the mix with the establishment of international resorts and restaurants catering to the varied taste of the Langkawi visitor ranging from Thai, Mexican, Arabic, Japanese and to even Russian options.

The variety of local and international restaurants, the traditional Langkawi eateries serving local delights, casual dining to fine dining options, trendy cafes and bistros located amidst the island's beautiful natural environment makes up the list to explore.

The LANGKAWI MAKAN-MAKAN GUIDE is designed to give our visitors a glimpse of the options that are aplenty on the islands and for your culinary journey during your stay in exciting Langkawi.

Enjoy the experience!
Selamat Menjamu Selera.

The Pasar Malam has evolved with stalls selling clothing items, toys, cheap watches, affordable ornaments and tourist souvenir items.

However, the Pasar Malam is also an incredible source of favorite local food. From the classic Malay food and delicacies to the more unusual items that are not found anywhere else on the island. There are some foods that even some Malaysians have not seen before. Even though the food is sold at incredibly low prices, they are of a decent quality and most are freshly made or cooked in front of you.

LANGKAWI FOOD & RESTAURANTS

Langkawi today is growing in reputation as a dynamic dining destination where you can feast on everything from the basic Malay Sambal to an Italian Pizza with a Sambal Topping.

Similar to the rest of the country and in Asia, rice is the staple for all ethnic groups, and being on an island with abundant marine resources, seafood is the main stay of most households and the obvious items on any restaurant menu.

Most of the local Langkawi food available is rice based, the Malay Nasi Campur, the Chinese Chap Fan, the Indian Muslim Nasi Kandar, the Chicken Rice and the universal Malaysian breakfast – the Nasi Lemak.

Secondary to rice are the noodle options, a favorite for a quick meal, all day long – the Curry Mee, Mee Soups, Char Kuay Teow, Mee Rebus, Mee Goreng Mamak and Langkawi's signature Laksa Kedah. All these are available almost all over the island at local restaurants, coffee shops and kiosks, but now feature in most International resorts restaurant menus, prepared and presented in their own styles.

The restaurants in Langkawi are dotted all over the island, some at the resorts and hotels; others stand alone, with the concentration at the more popular tourist belts. Each has its own character and is usually conceptualised or themed to the environment at their location. There are many options at Kuah Town, Pantai Cenang, Pantai Tengah and the Pantai Kok areas, the high tourist traffic locations.

Wherever you are located in Langkawi, you are bound to be within walking distance or a short taxi ride to a cluster of choice of restaurants. Prices range from the very affordable at local outlets, to the mid-range at the themed restaurants and the high end range at the international resorts.

Ask your resort concierge for tips or recommendations of what's available near you and begin your exploration of Langkawi's culinary delights.

JALA RESTAURANT @ THE ANDAMAN • TELUK DATAI

The Jala at the Andaman is nestled between lush tropical rainforest and the crystal blue waters of the Andaman Sea. A truly unique dining experience, the sand floor of the restaurant is complimented by exceptional Malay hospitality. The restaurant's concept of appreciating nature and to ensure its sustainability, the restaurant is selective in choosing its seafood. To further ensure quality, it started to grow its own herbs, carrot and beetroot top on a small scale. There is also a Coral Nursery at the Andaman where Sea Grapes are cultivated for the daily supply required at the Jala.

Chef Rene has created an exciting a la carte menu of Malay and Western seafood. His Scandinavian heritage is fused into some of his creations with smokey flavors combined with spicy and vibrant Asian flavors. Along with his Malaysian kitchen team, this marriage of European and Asian preparation techniques and ingredients has resulted in a very creative and unique menu at the Jala.

The ambience of the Jala, the sound of waves crashing on the beach, the warm hospitality and the wonderful menu makes it worth a visit.

Mixed Salads with sausages and cucumbers, the Borst, a beetroot soup and the Fish Russian style served with rice, mash potatoes or stewed vegetables and the Chicken Tabaka, chicken marinated for a few days and roasted are recommended.

The house special is the Uzbek traditional rice called Plov, lamb steamed with rice. This preparation requires to be ordered a day in advance, but it's worth the wait.

STRAITS CLUB RESTAURANT • PANTAI CENANG

Located at the Temple Tree, a collection of antique buildings of Chinese, Malay, Indian and Eurasian origin, converted into suites and villas at the resort, the Straits Club Restaurant serves a different set menu every night in the style of the Eurasian house that houses it. The verandah seating and the furnishings gives you a complete feel of the past colonial days.

CHARLIE'S PLACE @ RLYC · KUAH

Perched on a deck above the water, with a view of the Royal Langkawi Yacht Club marina and Kuah harbour, Charlie's Place is an ideal spot to just chill out with a few quiet drinks before dinner to watch the amazing sunset in the harbour.

The dinner menu is a fusion of Malaysian favorites and Western cuisine. Charlie's Nasi Goreng Kampung is as authentic and delicious as the 'kampung' version, served with Satay and fried chicken. Another restaurant favorite is the Lamb Shank, given a twist with some added spices, an original club recipe which will not disappoint you.

Lastly, the humble Fish & Chips is Charlie's recommendation, comes with two huge fish fillets lightly battered and deep-fried to perfection with fries and tartar sauce, it is simply a refreshing dish.

Enjoy the breezy ambience of dining by the sea at Charlie's and absorb the slow pace of the island while you are here.
